

Rugged is our business

For over 20 years, General Dynamics Itronix has been designing and building innovative, rugged computing products. From the world's lightest, full-sized notebook to a full-featured, handheld tablet PC, our products are built to perform in the most demanding environments.

Delivering rugged performance

Mobile workers operate in a variety of conditions and depend on their computers to get the job done. That is why they need rugged computing solutions to provide the best in performance, reliability, cost of ownership and service.
